Dear Max:

I wish to thank you for giving the Commencement Address to our most recent Midcareer Class on Friday, 26 February 1971. The Midcareerists found your presentation most stimulating and timely and thought that your views on some of the pressing problems facing us were very pertinent indeed. I was told that they particularly appreciated your candor in the informal discussion which followed the presentation.

I hope it will not be imposing on you too much if we ask you to return to speak to one of our future Midcareer Classes.

Sincerely,

/s/
